The Project aims to enhance the livelihoods of internally displaced and conflict-affected youth and foster their meaningful participation in society – targeting two regions (Shida Kartli, Samegrelo) in Georgia, and Donetsk oblasts in Eastern Ukraine.

The Project aims to increase educational, employment and entrepreneurial opportunities for IDP and conflict-affected youth, as well as to strengthen state-civic cooperation over youth education, employment and entrepreneurship issues through advocacy and capacity-building of government institutions.

Expected results:

- Internally displaced and conflict-affected youth have the skills and knowledge to apply for jobs and financial services and benefit from sustainable livelihood solutions.
- Civil Society, private sector stakeholders, GoG and GoU institutions research and apply best practices to jointly work, efficiently plan and implement youth education employment, as well as entrepreneurship programs.
