30 YEARS OF PARTNERSHIP
EUROPEAN UNION AND AZERBAIJAN

STUDY IN EUROPE

Welcome to your future!

MARIJANA KUJUNDŽIĆ
Ambassador of the European Union
to the Republic of Azerbaijan

It is my great pleasure to present the catalogue of the "Study in Europe" Education Fair 2026, bringing together 60 European universities and national education agencies from 16 European countries.

This catalogue is your gateway to exploring the diverse opportunities offered by Europe's world-class higher education institutions. It will help you discover a wide range of Bachelor's and Master's programmes, as well as specialised study and academic opportunities tailored to different interests and career aspirations.

You will also find valuable information about study and research opportunities, tuition fees, and scholarships, helping you make informed decisions about your future education.

Studying in Europe means experiencing high-quality and internationally recognised education in a diverse and dynamic environment. It is an opportunity to gain valuable knowledge and skills, discover new cultures, learn languages, build international connections, and create experiences that will shape both your personal and professional future. With opportunities to travel and explore across Europe, your studies can become a truly enriching and transformative experience.

Welcome to a world of creativity, innovation, inspiration, and opportunity.

Welcome to Your Future!

Fields of study:

Business and Management; Information Technology (IT); Computer Science; Tourism and Hospitality Management; Gastronomy and Culinary Arts

Costs & Scholarships:

Tuition fees: €4,800–€5,700 per year for international students, depending on the chosen programme.

Tuition fees and funding information →

Accommodation: Approximately €1,500–€6,000 per year, depending on the type of accommodation. The most affordable option is sharing a room in the VUM dormitory. Students choosing private accommodation are advised to share an apartment with other students to reduce rental and utility costs.

Meals and daily living expenses: Approximately €2,500–€4,500 per year, depending on individual lifestyle and spending habits.

Textbooks and study materials: Approximately €50–€100 per year, depending on the programme. Most learning resources are available online.

Student activities and miscellaneous expenses: Most events organised by VUM are free of charge for students. Student-oriented cultural and entertainment activities in Varna typically cost around €10–€20 per event. If students attend approximately one paid event per month, the annual cost would be around €120–€240.

Public transportation is free for students holding a valid student card, while student cinema tickets cost approximately €7.

Overall, students should budget approximately €1,200–€2,500 per year for activities and miscellaneous expenses, depending on their lifestyle.

Travel expenses: Vary depending on the student's country of residence, travel frequency, and personal preferences.

Estimated total annual cost excluding travel: Approximately €10,000–€18,800, including tuition fees, accommodation, meals, study materials, student activities, and daily expenses.

Scholarships & financial aid:

Students are eligible to receive scholarships both upon enrolment and after their first year of study.

Scholarships, tuition fees and funding →

Working While Studying:

According to Bulgarian law, international students holding a student residence permit may work up to 20 hours per week while studying.

Visa, Registration & Health Insurance:

Student visa:

Applicants admitted to one of VUM's full-time programmes must apply for a Type D (Student) Visa.

Upon arrival in Bulgaria and before the Type D Visa expires, students must register with the Migration Directorate and obtain a residence permit card. The residence permit must be renewed annually for the duration of their studies.

For a long-stay visa application, applicants must submit:

- Visa application form
- Valid passport
- Copies of passport pages containing personal information, visas, and residence permits, if applicable
- Recent passport-sized colour photograph
- Original supporting documents and two copies proving the purpose of the long-stay visa application, as well as proof of sufficient financial means for accommodation and living expenses

Bulgarian Ministry of Foreign Affairs – Visa information →

VFS Global – Bulgaria Visa Application Centre →

Registration & residence permit:

For the initial residence permit application, students are accompanied by a Student Welfare Coordinator, who assists throughout the process, including translation of required documents and completion of the application form.

The following documents are required:

- Completed application form
- Medical insurance valid in Bulgaria for one year with coverage of at least €30,000
- Bank statement from the student's home country showing a minimum balance of €770
- Passport, Type D Visa, and latest entry stamp
- Confirmation of student status issued by VUM's Student Affairs Department
- Confirmation of address registration for students residing in the university dormitory
- Original or notarised copy of the rental agreement for students living in private accommodation
- Notarised declaration signed by the property owner for students living in private accommodation
- Certificate issued by the Bulgarian Ministry of Education
- Valid criminal record certificate, legalised and translated into Bulgarian

The bank statement and criminal record certificate must be obtained and legalised in the applicant's home country before arrival in Bulgaria. If these documents have not yet been translated into Bulgarian, this can be arranged after arrival with the assistance of a Student Welfare Coordinator.

Accommodation & Daily Life

Students can stay in the VUM on-campus dormitory or in accommodation provided by one of VUM's partner providers, subject to availability at the time of application or arrival.

Numerous private accommodation options are also available for international students in Varna.

Students choosing private accommodation should discuss this with their landlord in advance, as the landlord is responsible for providing the documents required for registration with the Migration Directorate, including confirmation of address registration and a valid rental or lease agreement.

Visa, Registration & Health Insurance:

Student visa:

Azerbaijani students who intend to study in Bulgaria for more than 90 days generally need a long-stay Type D visa. Applications are submitted through the Bulgarian diplomatic or consular authorities and must include proof of admission, accommodation, financial means and health insurance, as well as a personal interview. After entering Bulgaria, students must apply for a residence permit.

A Type D visa for qualifying students may be issued for up to one year and can permit a stay of up to 360 days. The residence permit is normally issued for the duration of the study programme, up to one year at a time, and can be renewed.

Visa information for Bulgaria →

Application & registration:

International students must first be admitted by a Bulgarian higher education institution. They then submit the required educational documents, passport, photographs, proof of admission and any other documents required by the University. Foreign educational documents generally need to be legalised and translated into Bulgarian.

After arrival, students must also complete the residence registration procedure with the Bulgarian migration authorities.

Bulgarian Ministry of Interior →

Health insurance:

Students from Azerbaijan must have valid health insurance covering Bulgaria. For the Type D visa, the insurance must generally be valid in the EU, cover emergency medical treatment, hospitalisation and repatriation, and provide coverage of at least €30,000.

Students who are not covered by Bulgaria's compulsory health insurance system must maintain appropriate medical insurance valid in Bulgaria.

AGENCY FOR MOBILITY AND EU PROGRAMMES – STUDY IN CROATIA INITIATIVE

Website:
www.studyincroatia.hr

Azerbaijani students currently studying in Croatia: 23

About:

The Study in Croatia initiative promotes Croatian higher education internationally, positioning Croatia as an attractive destination for prospective students worldwide.

Through a range of targeted activities, the initiative works to increase incoming student mobility by encouraging international students to pursue full degree programmes in Croatia, thereby advancing the internationalisation of the Croatian higher education system.

Costs & Scholarships:

Estimated living expenses: €500–€800 per month

The cost of living varies depending on the student's lifestyle and choice of accommodation, such as private accommodation or a student dormitory.

Costs also vary by city. Larger cities and popular tourist destinations are generally more expensive. Overall, Croatia is considered less expensive than Western Europe or the USA.

Scholarships & financial aid:

Some Croatian higher education institutions may offer financial aid or partial tuition fee waivers to international students.

Scholarship opportunities for exchange or degree students are also available through:

- Bilateral Scholarships of the Republic of Croatia
- University bilateral agreements
- CEEPUS
- Erasmus+

CEEPUS and Erasmus+ are managed by the Agency for Mobility and EU Programmes.

Working While Studying:

International students can work in Croatia through the Student Service, administered by the Student Centre.

The Student Service provides matchmaking services connecting students with prospective employers.

Student Service offices are usually units of local Student Centres (Studentski centar), which are also responsible for subsidised student accommodation and meals.

Visa, Registration & Health Insurance:

Student visa:

Nationals of countries subject to visa requirements must obtain an entry visa for Croatia.

Information on countries subject to visa requirements is available through the Croatian Ministry of Foreign and European Affairs →

Further information is also available on the Study in Croatia portal →

Registration & temporary stay:

International students may stay in Croatia for a maximum of 90 days within any 180-day period from the date of entry. The 90-day stay may be used continuously or intermittently.

Neither EU nor non-EU citizens are required to apply for approval of temporary stay if they are staying in Croatia for up to 90 days.

Third-country nationals staying in Croatia for longer than 90 days are required to request approval for temporary stay.

Further information is available through the Ministry of the Interior of the Republic of Croatia →

Health insurance:

Registration for compulsory health insurance is obligatory for certain categories of foreign citizens, depending on their nationality, residence status, and existing health insurance coverage.

When applying for temporary residence in Croatia for the purpose of studying, international students are not required to register for Croatian compulsory health insurance if they can provide other proof of valid health insurance, such as:

- European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) – for EU/EEA/Swiss/UK nationals
- Bolesnički list (certificate of entitlement to healthcare under bilateral agreements) – for students from Bosnia and Herzegovina, Serbia, Montenegro, Turkey, North Macedonia, and Albania
- Comprehensive private health insurance – for third-country nationals

Accommodation & Daily Life

Public student dormitories are generally the most affordable accommodation option. However, due to limited capacity, dormitory accommodation is not available to all Croatian or international students. Some towns currently do not offer student dormitory accommodation.

International students do not automatically receive a place in a student dormitory. They should contact the International Cooperation Office of the higher education institution to which they are applying to explore available accommodation options.

Student Centres (Studentski centar) manage student dormitories according to quotas for available places.

Higher education institutions usually have a limited housing quota for international students participating in exchange programmes such as Erasmus+ and CEEPUS, arranged through Student Centres.

EU nationals with a residence permit who are enrolled in full degree programmes can also apply through regular accommodation calls published by Student Centres, usually in January and June.

The Faculty of Pharmacy and Biochemistry is a nationally and internationally recognised institution of multidisciplinary research and education, with an extensive network of partners and considerable research funding from a number of European and national funds.

It is one of the leading scientific and research institutions in biomedicine and health in Croatia.

The integrated undergraduate and graduate Pharmacy programme (300 ECTS, 5 years) is set up in accordance with Directive 2005/36/EC and is therefore recognised throughout EU Member States, making graduates eligible for registration as pharmacists in all EU/EEA countries.

Costs & Scholarships:

Tuition fee: €10,000 per year

Estimated living expenses: €500–€800 per month

The cost of living varies depending on the student's lifestyle and choice of accommodation, such as private accommodation or a student dormitory.

Costs also vary by city. Larger cities and popular tourist destinations are generally more expensive. Overall, Croatia is considered less expensive than Western Europe or the USA.

MENDEL UNIVERSITY IN BRNO

Website:
mendelu.cz/en

Degrees offered:
Bachelor's | Master's | Doctoral (PhD)

Language of instruction:
Czech | English

Azerbaijani students currently enrolled:
12

Fields of study:

Agriculture; Animal Production / Animal Science; Plant Production; Food Technology; Food and Human Nutrition; Biology / Biological Sciences; Chemistry; Environmental Sciences / Environmental Protection; Ecology; Forestry; Wood Science / Wood Technology; Landscape Management; Landscape Engineering; Horticulture; Viticulture and Oenology; Garden and Landscape Architecture; Economics; Business / Business Administration; Management; Finance; Accounting; Marketing; Informatics / Information Technology; Regional Development; International Development; International Relations; Tourism; Social Sciences; Pedagogy / Education

About:

Mendel University in Brno (MENDELU) is a modern public university located in Brno, Czechia's vibrant student city.

Founded in 1919 and named after Gregor Johann Mendel, the founder of modern genetics, the University combines more than a century of academic tradition with innovative research and international cooperation.

MENDELU is home to approximately 8,900 students, including a growing community of international students from over 70 countries.
With a strong focus on sustainability, innovation, and practical education, the University offers a welcoming multicultural environment that prepares graduates for successful global careers.

Costs & Scholarships:

International students typically spend approximately €700–€1,200 per month, covering accommodation, food, transportation, study materials, and personal expenses.

Estimated monthly costs:

- Accommodation: €200–€350
- Food & daily living: €300–€500
- Transport: €17–€20 for a student pass
- Books & personal expenses: €100–€250

University dormitories offer reasonably priced accommodation, while Brno's public transport system and student discounts help keep everyday living costs low.

Scholarships & financial aid:

MENDELU offers several scholarship opportunities to support international students, including:

- Merit-based scholarships
- Accommodation scholarships
- Erasmus+ mobility grants
- Selected government scholarship programmes

Working While Studying:

Many study programmes include mandatory practical training (internships), giving students an opportunity to develop hands-on skills and build professional networks during their studies.

MENDELU also encourages students to complete practical training abroad through the Erasmus+ Traineeship Programme, enabling them to gain international work experience at companies and institutions across Europe.

If an internship is a compulsory part of the study programme, an Erasmus+ traineeship can be officially recognised as fulfilling this requirement.

Visa, Registration & Health Insurance:

Student visa & residence permit:

Students are responsible for arranging their own visa application, including booking an appointment at the relevant Czech Embassy and following all instructions and deadlines.

MENDELU supports students throughout the process by providing necessary documents such as the Admission Letter and Accommodation Confirmation.

CZECHIA

Recognition of previous studies is also an important part of the process and must be arranged as part of the student's admission and visa preparation.

The entire process depends on the individual case but can take up to a few months.

Degree programmes and admission information →

Registration & application:

Students first select their study programme and submit an online application.

Admission requirements and the application process vary depending on the chosen programme and faculty. Applicants are required to provide the necessary documents, such as certificates and transcripts, and take an entrance examination.

Exact requirements, examination formats and deadlines depend on the selected programme. MENDELU provides support throughout the admission process and assists international students with the steps required to prepare for their studies.

Degree programmes and application information →

Health insurance:

Students are required to have valid health insurance for their stay in Czechia.

MENDELU provides information about a suitable insurance option and gives students the possibility to arrange insurance through a recommended insurance company, helping ensure that the required coverage is in place.

Health insurance information →

Accommodation & Daily Life

MENDELU ensures that every incoming student has the opportunity to secure accommodation in a university dormitory.

The dormitories provide affordable and convenient accommodation close to campus.
Students are advised to apply for accommodation as part of the arrival process.

Fields of study:

- Security Fields
- Economics
- Electrical Engineering
- Energy
- Computer Science
- Cybernetics
- Mathematics
- Civil Engineering
- Mechanical Engineering
- Technology and Materials
- Mining and Processing of Mineral Resources
- Earth Sciences

Costs & Scholarships:

Tuition fees:

- Bachelor's and Master's programmes: €2,000 per semester
- Doctoral (PhD) programmes: €20 per semester

Estimated living expenses: €500 per month, including meals and accommodation in on-campus dormitories.

Scholarships & financial aid:

Merit Scholarship

Awarded to full-time students based on academic performance and available in three categories.

Each faculty determines its own scholarship amount. For most faculties, the amount ranges from €120 to €480. At the Faculty of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science, the amount ranges from €800 to €1,600.

Special Achievement Scholarship

Awarded by the University or faculty management for outstanding achievements. It may be granted for achievements in elite sports, as well as to doctoral students for research, development or innovation activities.

The scholarship also recognises outstanding scientific, research, development, innovation, artistic or other creative achievements, as well as students' work for the faculty or University Academic Senate.

Doctoral Scholarship

Available to full-time doctoral students, who may apply for it each academic year for the standard duration of their programme.

Starting from the 2025/2026 academic year, the doctoral scholarship forms part of the doctoral study income. This may consist of the doctoral scholarship and a portion of salary from full-time employment related to preparation of the dissertation for doctoral students enrolled after 1 September 2025.

The minimum doctoral study income is linked to the minimum wage and amounts to CZK 24,960 per month for the 2025/2026 academic year. The stipend is paid retroactively.

Working While Studying:

Students residing in Czechia for the purpose of study have free access to the labour market and can therefore work without restrictions on the number of hours.

However, the primary purpose of their stay must remain their studies.

Visa, Registration & Health Insurance:

Student visa & residence permit:

For Bachelor's, Master's and Doctoral programmes, students normally apply for a Long-term Residence Permit for the Purpose of Study, rather than a simple student visa, because the studies last longer than one year.

Applications are submitted in person at the Embassy of the Czech Republic in Baku, by appointment. Students should apply for the residence permit immediately after receiving their Letter of Admission/ Acceptance Letter.

Official processing time: Up to 60 days.

Long-term residence for study information →

CZECHIA

Registration & application:

Azerbaijan is included in the Student Mode, a system designed to facilitate visa procedures for students from selected third countries.
It helps applicants seeking a long-term residence permit or visa for the purpose of study access the relevant embassy more quickly.

VSB-TUO – Student Mode information →

Health insurance:

Non-EU students intending to stay in Czechia for more than 90 days must have health insurance covering comprehensive healthcare, unless they are covered by public health insurance or exempt under an international agreement or recognised mobility programme.

Health insurance information →

Accommodation & Daily Life

VSB-TUO provides on-campus student dormitories. Students should apply for dormitory accommodation as soon as they submit their study application and should not wait for an admission decision.

Applying early increases the chances of securing accommodation and can also assist with the visa process.

The best applicants to the Viadrina Fast Track and Viadrina Fast Track (ENG-Track) study preparatory programmes may receive a scholarship totalling €3,000 for the first year of their Bachelor's studies, subject to the availability of funding.

Viadrina College – Study preparation →

Working While Studying:

International students in Germany have the opportunity to work part-time alongside their studies, with working hours generally limited to a maximum of 20 hours per week during the semester (lecture period).

This allows students to gain practical experience while ensuring that their studies remain their primary focus.

Positions for student assistants and tutors are also offered at European University Viadrina from time to time, providing opportunities to gain academic and professional experience within the University.

Visa, Registration & Health Insurance:

Student visa:

Students admitted to a study preparatory programme (foundation programme) within the Viadrina College receive an official invitation letter that enables them to apply for a student visa. Participants receive guidance and support throughout the visa application process.

Students admitted directly to a degree programme can apply for their student visa on the basis of their admission letter.

Visa information for international students →

The duration of the student visa process depends on the German Embassy in Azerbaijan. Students should contact the Embassy directly for specific information regarding visa requirements, procedures and processing times.

For international students applying for a Master's programme:

Master's application and enrolment information →

Prospective students who are required to complete a study preparatory programme before beginning their Bachelor's degree and wish to attend a foundation programme in 2027 can apply until 4 December 2026. Applications can be submitted from October 2026 onwards.

Applicants successfully admitted to a German- or English-taught study preparatory programme within the Viadrina College who pass all relevant examinations will be directly enrolled in their chosen degree programme. In this case, a separate application through uni-assist e.V. is not required.

Viadrina College – Study preparation →

Health insurance:

Health insurance is mandatory for all students in Germany. A health insurance certificate must be submitted to Viadrina as part of the enrolment process.

During their studies at Viadrina, students are generally required to have statutory health insurance. Students may generally take out statutory student health insurance at a reduced student rate.

Health insurance information →

During study preparation within the Viadrina College, participants are not yet enrolled as regular students. They must therefore have private health insurance covering the entire period of the study preparatory programme.

Accommodation & Daily Life

Affordable student accommodation is available in student dormitories in Frankfurt (Oder).

As Frankfurt (Oder) is a border city, students can also live in a student dormitory in Słubice, Poland, only a few minutes' walk from Frankfurt (Oder).

Applications for student dormitory rooms can be submitted throughout the year through the Studierendenwerk's online application system. As demand can be high, students are strongly advised to apply as early as possible.

Arrival and accommodation information →

Participants in the study preparatory programmes within the Viadrina College receive support throughout the arrival and accommodation process.

BIA Tuition Fee Discounts →

Latvian State Scholarship Information →

Working While Studying:

Full-time Azerbaijani students holding a valid student residence permit may work without a separate work permit.

Undergraduate students: Up to 20 hours per week during term time and full-time, up to 40 hours per week, during official holiday periods.

Postgraduate students: Up to 40 hours per week, provided that employment does not interfere with their studies.

Students must maintain full-time enrolment status, and employers must register employees with the State Revenue Service.

Depending on the sector, Latvian-language proficiency may be required. International companies in Riga also recruit English-speaking employees.

Common employment opportunities include hospitality, tourism, retail and customer support.

Visa, Registration & Health Insurance

Temporary Residence Permit (TRP):

For Azerbaijani students enrolling at BIA, a TRP is granted after formal admission and payment of the first academic year's tuition fees.

Students may follow one of two procedures:

Application via the diplomatic mission: Begin the TRP procedure through the Embassy of Latvia in Azerbaijan before travelling, using an official BIA invitation letter.

Application after arrival: Enter Latvia on a short-term entry visa valid for up to 90 days, issued on the basis of an official BIA invitation letter, and subsequently submit the TRP documentation to the Office of Citizenship and Migration Affairs (OCMA).

BIA Visa & Residence Permit Information →

Registration after arrival:

1. Register with the BIA Visa Department within the first two days of arrival, preferably during Welcome and Orientation Week and before studies begin.
2. Register with the OCMA within 14 days of arrival.

Health insurance:

Azerbaijani students applying for a TRP must have private health insurance providing coverage of at least €42,600 for the entire period of validity.

The insurance must cover:

- Emergency medical treatment
- Inpatient treatment for critical or life-threatening conditions
- Transport to the nearest medical facility
- Medical repatriation in the event of serious illness or death

The policy must be valid in Latvia and throughout the Schengen Area for the entire planned period of stay.

Accommodation & Daily Life

International students in Riga can choose from student hotels, residence-style accommodation, hostels, and privately rented rooms and apartments.

BIA works with and recommends several accommodation providers:

DUCK REPUBLIK Hotel
PRIMA Hotel
TOMO Hotel
SHED Co-living Riga Apartments
Mavadi Hotel

Students can also find furnished rooms and apartments for mid- to long-term rental through Spotahome.

For the 2026/2027 academic year, tuition at LCC is €4,290 per year (60 ECTS credits).

Students should additionally budget approximately €500 per month for living expenses in Klaipėda, including on-campus accommodation, food and everyday costs.

Other expenses may include:

- Temporary Residence Permit (TRP) and migration fees
- Health insurance
- Travel

The total cost will therefore vary depending on each student's lifestyle and individual expenses.

Scholarships & financial aid:

LCC offers different forms of financial aid, including merit-based scholarships and need-based aid.

Students may also pay their tuition fees in three instalments.

The insurance must cover expenses related to:

- Return travel for medical reasons
- Emergency medical care
- Hospitalisation
- Death
- The insurer must agree to pay covered costs directly to the medical facility.

Accommodation & Daily Life

Krakow University of Technology offers accommodation in its own student dormitories.

Students interested in University accommodation can indicate their wish to apply for a dormitory place during the online admission process.

Students who prefer private accommodation can rent a room or apartment in Kraków. It is recommended to begin searching approximately 2–3 months before the start of the academic year, as demand for student housing can be high.

The University notes that students commonly use international student Facebook groups and online property platforms such as OLX and Otodom when looking for private accommodation.

Kraków offers a lively student environment with a strong academic, cultural and social life. Students can explore the historic Old Town, spend time by the Vistula River, visit cafés and restaurants, and enjoy the city's parks and green spaces.

Throughout the year, students can also participate in concerts, festivals, exhibitions, cultural events and activities organised by universities and student organisations.

Working While Studying:

Non-EU/EEA students holding a valid Temporary Residence Permit for studies in Romania may work part-time without obtaining a separate work permit.

Working conditions provided by the University:

- Maximum 4 hours per day / 20 hours per week without a separate employment permit
- Working more than 4 hours per day requires standard full-time employment authorisation
- The student and employer must notify the General Inspectorate for Immigration (IGI) within 10 days of signing or terminating an employment contract

The University indicates that part-time student jobs in Cluj-Napoca generally pay approximately RON 20–35 (€4–€7) per hour net, depending on language skills and job complexity.

Visa, Registration & Health Insurance

Student visa:

Non-EU/EEA students must obtain a Long-Stay Visa for Studies (Type D/SD) before arriving in Romania.

The process includes:

1. Receiving the official Letter of Acceptance from the Romanian Ministry of Education through the University
2. Submitting the initial visa application electronically through the Romanian Ministry of Foreign Affairs portal
3. Attending an in-person interview at the relevant Romanian embassy or consulate and presenting the original documents
4. Applying for a Temporary Residence Permit at the General Inspectorate for Immigration in Cluj-Napoca within 30 days of arrival

Standard visa processing takes approximately 30 days, although it may range from 2 weeks to 2 months, depending on consular workload and background checks.

The D/SD visa is valid for up to 90 days. The residence permit is issued for one year at a time and renewed annually for the duration of the study programme.

Non-EU admission & visa information →

International student registration:

Applicants first complete the University's online application process and submit the required documents.

Required documents include:

- Registration form
- Ministry application for the Letter of Acceptance for non-EU students
- High school/Baccalaureate diploma and transcripts
- Syllabus, where applicable
- Legalised Romanian, English or French translations, where applicable
- CNRED Certificate of Equivalence for EU diplomas
- Minimum B2-level certificate in the language of instruction, or proof of at least three years of previous education in that language
- Birth certificate
- Valid passport copy
- Three passport photographs
- Medical certificate confirming physical fitness and absence of infectious diseases, valid for three months

Application fees:

- General programmes: RON 100
- Veterinary Medicine – Romanian track: RON 200
- Veterinary Medicine – English/French tracks: €200

Following evaluation and admission, students must confirm their place.

Place confirmation:

- General fee-based programmes: 10% of the annual tuition fee
- Veterinary Medicine – English/French tracks: €2,500 deposit

Before classes begin, admitted students must present their original documents, passport with study visa and original Letter of Acceptance on campus and sign their study contract.

Health insurance:

Non-EU/EEA students require private travel/health insurance for the D/SD student visa and entry into Romania.

The policy must:

- Provide minimum coverage of €30,000
- Cover emergency medical treatment
- Cover emergency hospitalisation
- Cover medical repatriation
- Remain valid for the entire initial visa period, usually 90 days

Once enrolled and residing in Romania, students may transition to or access the National Health Insurance House. Students under the age of 26 are entitled to free public health coverage while enrolled at the University, provided they are not employed.

Working While Studying:
Non-EU students holding a temporary residence right for studies may work without a work permit under a part-time employment contract of up to 6 hours per day.

Visa, Registration & Health Insurance

Student visa:
Azerbaijani citizens require a Romanian long-stay visa for studies (D/SD), issued after the acceptance letter from the Romanian Ministry of Education has been obtained and the visa requirements met. Applications are submitted through the eViza portal.

The visa is granted for 90 days. The favourable opinion of the General Inspectorate for Immigration (IGI) is normally issued within 30 days, extendable by up to 15 days.

eViza Romania portal →

IGI – studies in Romania →

Application & registration:
Non-EU candidates apply through the University's international admission procedure and submit the documents required for recognition and acceptance.

After arrival and enrolment, students apply for a study residence permit with the General Inspectorate for Immigration, normally at least 30 days before the visa or right of stay expires.

Admission information for non-EU candidates →

Health insurance:
For the D/SD visa, students must hold travel medical insurance valid throughout the Member States for the period of the visa, covering medical repatriation, emergency treatment and hospitalisation, and death, with minimum coverage of €30,000.

For residence formalities, the applicable Romanian health insurance requirements must also be met. Students aged 26 and over require social health insurance in order to extend their temporary residence.

Accommodation & Daily Life

Valahia University has six student dormitories in Târgoviște, providing more than 1,000 places, as well as accommodation in Alexandria.

Students should apply as early as possible after admission and confirmation, and before the start of the academic year, as places are subject to availability.
